Illinois Men in the Union Navy During the Civil War

MRS. MARION D. PRATT
*Archivist, State Records Section
Illinois State Archives, Springfield*

A VOLUME entitled "Roster of Men from Illinois Who Served in the United States Navy During the War of the Rebellion" was transferred to the Illinois State Archives with other Civil War service records by the Military and Naval Department under the jurisdiction of the Adjutant General of the State of Illinois. The nine-column headings are as follows: Name, Birthplace, Place Credited To, Date of Enlistment, Place of Enlistment, Term, Rating, Vessels Served On, Final Disposition.

Just recently the names have been indexed and alphabetized, and are printed here with the serviceman's birthplace. Besides those born in Illinois or other states, there are natives from such countries as Canada, Ireland, and France. Not all entries indicate the place to which the serviceman was credited. Designations which were given are: Illinois, a specific town or county in Illinois, or a particular congressional district in Illinois. The date of enlistment is given for each person, the earliest noted being May 21, 1861, and the latest May 29, 1865. They enlisted mainly at Cairo and Chicago, but a number of them enlisted at Cincinnati, and some at various places such as Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, on the Ohio River, or on a named vessel. Some enlisted for the duration of the war, others for terms of one-two-or-three years. As for their ratings, most of the listings read "seaman," "ordinary seaman," or "landsman," but there were also first-second-or-third-class boys, first-or-second-class firemen, a coal heaver, and a hospital steward.

According to the information on the ledger page of the roster, most of the men served on more than one vessel. The vessels noted most frequently were the Great Western, the Clara Dolsen, and the Princeton. Among the various others were the: Minnesota, Argosy, Arizona, Galena, General Grant, General Lyon, Ottawa, Black Hawk, Pontiac, Hospital Memphis, Lafayette, Springfield, Silver Cloud, and Mound City.

As for "Final Disposition," the majority of them were designated as being discharged as of a specific date, some as having deserted. There were other notations such as: Rebel prisoner; Failed to appear; Appointment revoked; Rejected; Did not complete his enlistment; No further record; Granted sick leave; Committed suicide; Accidentally shot; Killed at battle of Yazoo City. One was "transferred to Naval Academy, Newport, R. I."

At the outbreak of the Civil War in April, 1861, our Navy was ill-prepared to wage effective warfare. The most active units were in foreign stations. When President Lincoln declared the Southern ports blockaded, it was indeed a bold step. While substantial vessels were being constructed to replace the antiquated fleet, crafts of every kind were converted and pressed into service—merchantmen, gunboats, sloops, ironclads, even ferry boats. It was a converted Fulton ferry-boat which captured the Circassian off Havana. The Circassian was a valuable prize and was one of the vessels on which Illinois men served. By 1865 the fleet had been increased from less than seventy vessels to almost seven hundred, about two hundred of which had been built or begun during the war.

In 1861 the officer personnel of the United States Navy consisted of elderly officers who had rank because of seniority of service rather than merit. The middle group was handicapped at first from a long period of inaction. There were also too few men to make up the crews to do the brunt of the work. By 1865, however, there were over 7,500 officers and approximately 50,000 seamen in the service under an able chief of staff, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Gustavus V. Fox, and Secretary of the Navy Gideon Welles.

The United States Navy—including approximately three thousand from Illinois—protected merchant shipping against Confederate raiders, maintained an extensive blockade of Southern coastlines, attacked coastal and river ports, captured many vessels, and supported the Army in combat operations, safeguarded the army communications, and prevented foreign intervention into the war.

LIBRARIES—SCHOOLS—INDIVIDUALS

The Illinois State Library supplements public library collections.

In areas having library service, librarians may borrow for their patrons books not available locally. Patrons wishing to visit the State Library in order to receive direct service may do so by obtaining a "courtesy card" from their public librarian.

Schools may borrow books: first, through the public library that serves their area; second, if no library serves the area, through the school librarian or a designated librarian appointed by the school superintendent.

Individuals having no free library service may borrow directly from the State Library.

Materials may be borrowed without cost other than return postage.

BOOK REVIEWS ON TAPE

In co-operation with the Illinois State Library, the University of Illinois has produced a series of book reviews recorded on tape, entitled "Book Fair." Suitable for rebroadcast or other library uses, these taped programs consist of a panel of reviewers who discuss several contemporary books during each broadcast. The tapes listed below are now available on loan from the Illinois State Library. A list of the first series appeared in the January, 1959, issue of Illinois Libraries; series I through III were listed in the April, 1960, issue; series IV through VII in the September, 1960, issue; and series VIII through IX in the February, 1962, issue.

Series X, No. 1

Time: 14:44 September 25, 1960

The Waste Makers by Vance Packard. Discusses efforts of business to make people buy more and be more wasteful in an age of high productivity.
